

Small Research Grants to raise the profile of careers for early career women scientists financed by the contract between the University of Regensburg

and the Bavarian State Ministry of Science and the Arts

Call for applications and funding guidelines 2024 - 2027

In order to implement equal opportunities for women in research and teaching, the University of Regensburg (UR) provides additional funds for publication support, travel and research assistants for early career women scientists until 31.12.2027.

Target group | Female postdoctoral researchers, habilitation candidates, private lecturers at the UR with temporary employment contracts, W1 professors and advanced female doctoral candidates from faculties in which the average proportion of female doctorates over the past four years has been below 50 percent (for applications in 2024: Catholic Theology; Law; Business, Economics and Management Information Systems; Philosophy, Art History, History, and Humanities; Mathematics; Physics; Chemistry and Pharmacy).

Benefits | Grants for material and travel expenses as well as allowances for research assistants that contribute to the profile of the academic career and for which no other funding is possible.

Examples of funding and grant limits

- Funds for research assistants for max. of 30 hours per month and a maximum of six months per application
- Travel expenses in Germany or abroad (in accordance with the Bavarian Travel Expenses Act) for participation in conferences, congresses or research meetings
